STRONG START AT PLASTYX

The new Plastyx JV announced in March has got off to a strong start with 75% of its year end target for sourcing plastic waste feedstock already reached. The business is well on its way towards its aim of becoming Europe's leading provider of feedstock to the advanced plastic recycling market.

75% of Target Already Reached

Agilyx has announced that the Plastyx joint venture announced in March has already reached 75% of its initial target feedstock sourcing level. This was set at 200,000t of plastic waste to be sourced by the year end. The venture has now executed memoranda of understanding for 150,000t of waste. The statement points out that this progress could lead to a doubling of the target.

On Way to Becoming Leading Feedstock Provider

The Plastyx joint venture was created in April with former Plastic Energy chair Carlos Monreal with the aim of becoming Europe's leading provider of feedstock to the advanced plastic recycling market. The JV ownership is split 60:40 with Agilyx taking the larger share and Circular Resources the minority. Mr Monreal brings a highly experienced partner in what Agilyx sees as a key first mover opportunity. We see the move as complementing the existing Cyclyx JV which focuses on feedstock processing and can benefit from the international sourcing platform which Plastyx can offer.
